

Make your LMS yours

Customize Litmos Training to support your brand

Learners need more than courses and content. For real learning success, the experience matters.

Learner experience is at the core of a thriving learning culture. If the experience of the LMS environment feels welcoming, familiar, and engaging, learners will embrace it and come back for more. If it feels bland, isolated, and uninteresting, don't expect them to wholeheartedly adopt your programs, even if the content itself is great.

Custom brand for a better learner experience

One of the best ways to draw learners into Litmos Training is to custom brand it. If you have basic CSS and HTML knowledge, you can customize your instance down to the finest details from fonts and colors to headers and footers and more. Be sure to adhere to your organization's brand guidelines! Doing so will connect learners to the uniqueness of your company's learning culture.

So, what can you customize?

1 Logo

Get your logo loaded up from the get-go! Make sure you size it right and choose color and background selections according to brand guidelines

2 Login

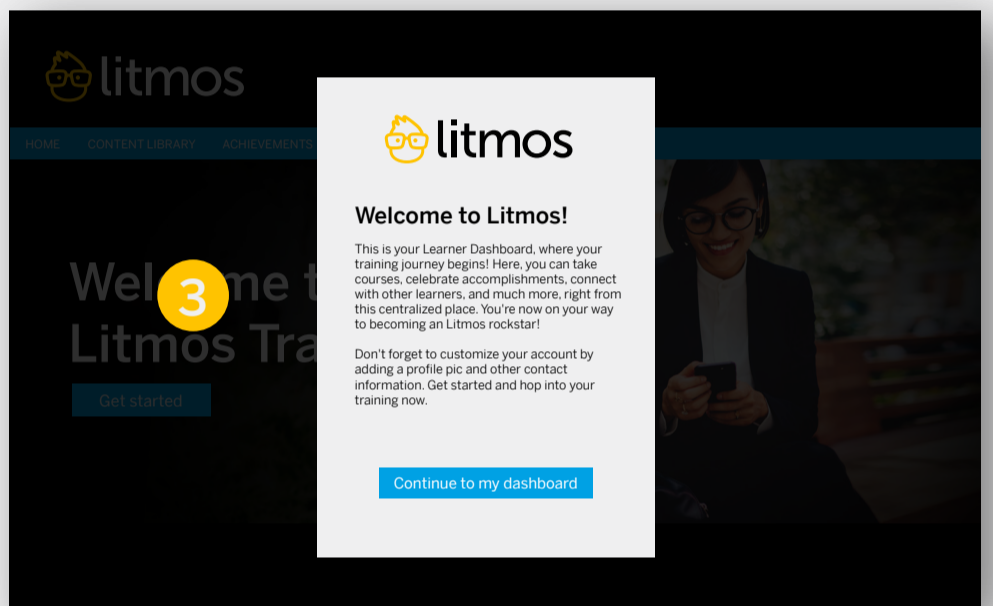

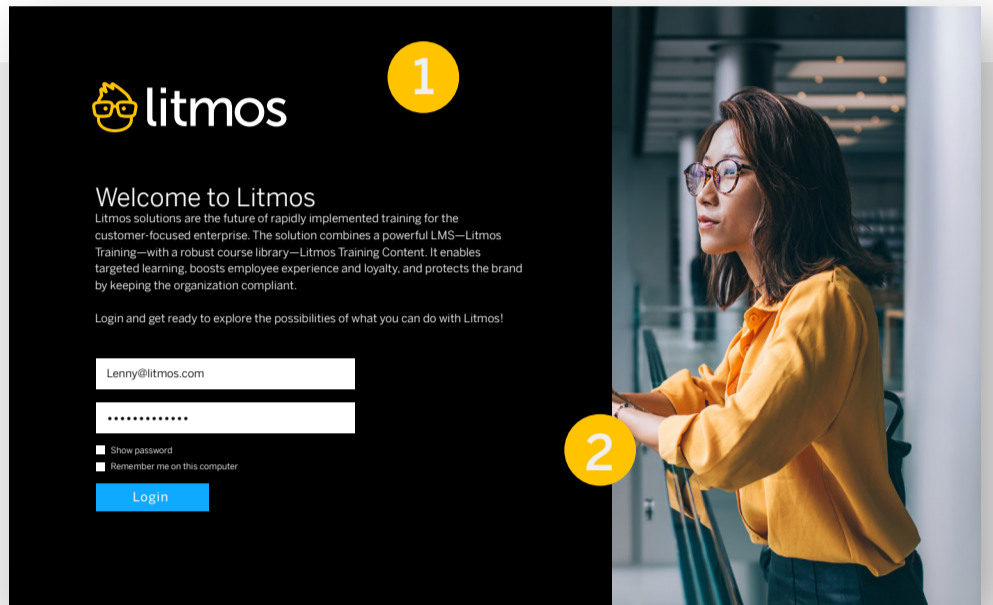

Greet learners right at the gate. Design your login screen to welcome users into their home for learning and development. You may even enable single sign-on so they can jump right in from another system.

3 Pop-up message

After login, this message further welcomes learners and guides them to recommended training or other key info. Custom HTML enables you to format it as you please with graphics, text, layouts, etc.

4 Header

Keep your brand top-of-mind by customizing the global header for both admin and learner views. Pro tip: Mirroring your company's website can make learners feel more at home.

5 Navigation

Determine how learners navigate the LMS by choosing from different interface options. You can set top, horizontal navigation or a vertical menu that appears as a sidebar with icons.

6 Banner

Here's prime real estate to communicate with learners in a big, bold way. Maybe an image with a welcome message or links to featured courses or even a video?

7 Fonts

Make your marketing team happy and never stray from your company's chosen fonts. It's an easy but effective way to fuse the brand with the learning experience.

8 Colors

It's important to stick to the proper palette in the brand guidelines to support the company's look and feel.

9 Widgets

Decide what you want your learners to see. Select from an array of widgets including News, Leaderboard, Assigned Training, Metrics, ILT Calendar, Recently Viewed, and more.

10 Course tiles

Upload a custom image for each of your courses to draw more attention and create greater visual interest.

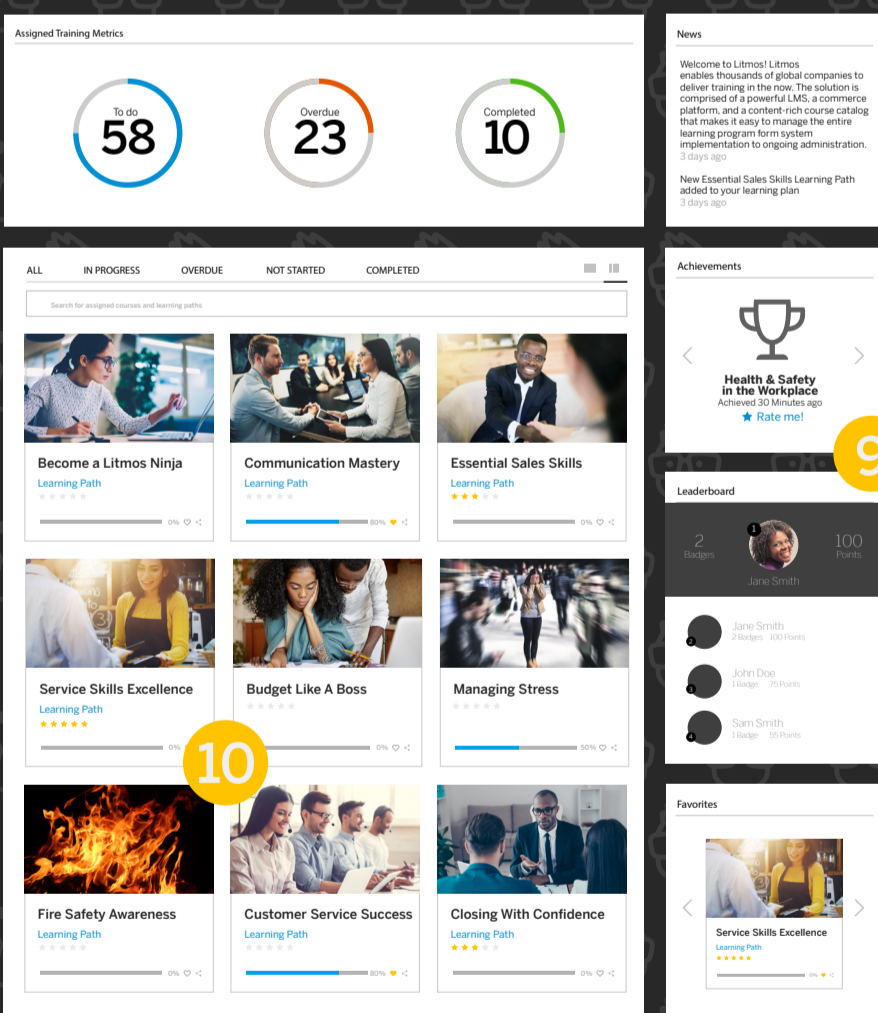

11 Backgrounds

No need to be limited to standard gray. It's a best practice to build backgrounds consistent with your company's website to further increase the visual sophistication of your LMS.

12 Footer

A custom footer has great potential to serve up useful information. You could use this area to link to other resources, list contact info, or recreate the footer from your website.
